WHICH ELECTRODE IS MOST APPROPRIATE?

The standard StimRouter electrode is appropriate for most patients and StimRouter implant locations. However, there are certain situations where StimRouter patients may benefit from a more specialized electrode design that better compliments patient anatomy and lead implant technique. Bioness is proud to offer the StimRouter Extended Electrode to help those patients enjoy the maximum relief that StimRouter can offer.

The StimRouter Extended Electrode may be considered for:

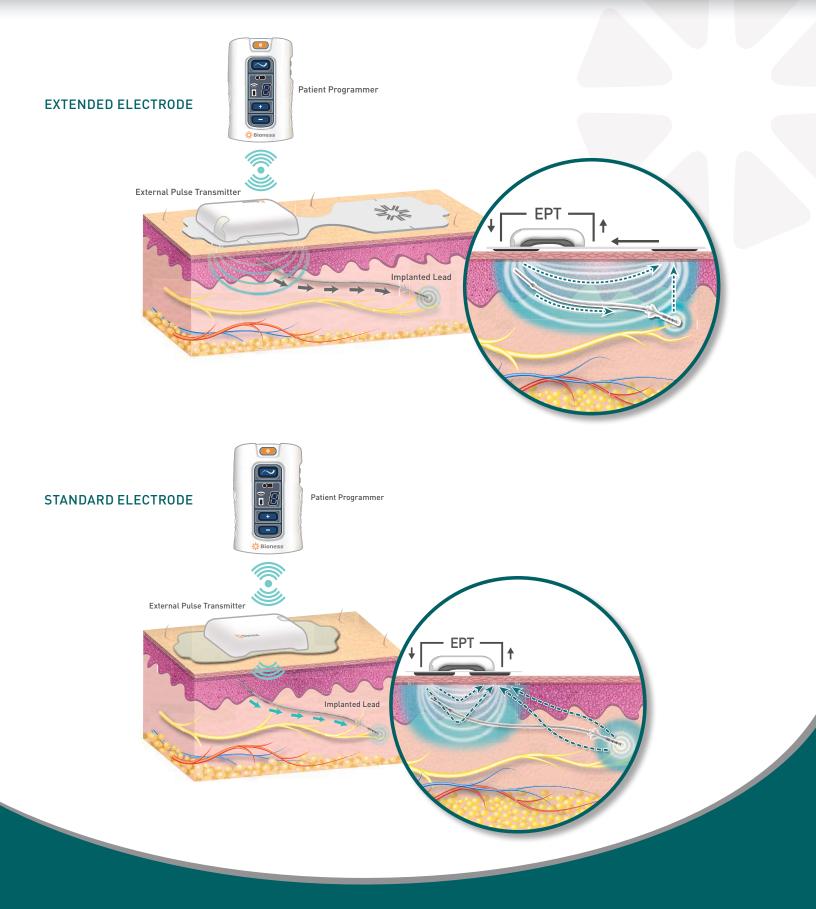

- Optimizing the stimulation circuit remember the triangle
- Optimizing EPT orientation new printed markings make patients' EPT placement easier than ever
- Optimizing stimulation of nerves in challenging anatomical locations
- Increased patient comfort while wearing the StimRouter electrode and EPT, depending on implant location.
